Self Introduction

Since I participated in the reconstruction work of The Yushu earthquake as a volunteer in 2011, I have been involved in disaster response work in the humanitarian field. I have been deeply involved in various stages from the immediate rescue coordination to disaster relief and reconstruction. Since I participated in the Sphere training in 2013, I have been committed to the training and promotion of sphere in China. So far, nearly 30 training sessions have been organized and more than 1,100 participants from more than 500 NGOs have been trained. I hope that through the promotion of the Sphere and the combination of emergency management, the quality and accountability of Chinese NGOs in the humanitarian field can be effectively improved, so as to influence the government and enterprises and achieve effective collaboration.

Reason for Wanting to become a sphere trainer

Since 2013, I have participated in Sphere trainings and more than 10 major disaster response experiences, and I have deeply felt the gap between the concepts, principles and practices of active NGOs in the field of humanitarian response in China and international NGOs in response. During the past 10 years, I have worked as a teaching assistant of Sphere and organized the trainings more than 25. I have a dream that I could brought China's humanitarian work in line with international standards, and I believe that if I want to achieve my dream, I must have a deeper understanding of Sphere, as well as experiencing more disaster responses. Becoming a qualified, trained and certified trainer is a cornerstone of my dream to improve the quality of response and accountability in the domestic humanitarian sector.
